"SHE LOVED TIMES SQUARE"

A tribute from the father of Alyssa Elsman appeared Monday morning in Times Square. 4

There is no words that can express our gratitude with the outpouring of love and support this city has shown us. Our medical staff, The NYPD and most of all YOU. This impromptu memorial dedicated to our daughter and seeing and talking to many of you has helped me cope with our loss. I have met so many people from different countries, religions, creeds.etc.....it doesn't matter.. you have shown us that when you remove bias..racism..and ignorance.. WE ARE ALL ONE... Your condolences have been sincere and taken to heart. Please also remember there are 20 other families affected by this and please keep them in your thoughts too. Alyssa loved this city...she loved Times Square. She would appreciate all your kind words but she would also tell us all to get back up and continue. That's how full of life my daughter was This city and our hearts are scarred, cut to the core, but in true New York City fashion..We will heal..We will prevail..and we will never forget. Alyssa Lynn Elsman...my beautiful 18 year old girl. I look at myself and will never understand how I could ever have made such an angel...Im glad you got your mothers looks...😉 .I don't know anything currently..I always have the answers..but I am blank..I have a hole in my heart that can never be filled. My world changed when you came into it and it is unexplainable with you leaving it. I love you kid. Just no words <3 Love you love you love you...

GORE: TRUMP CAN'T STOP PROGRESS ON CLIMATE

1 President Donald Trump cannot stop momentum to tackle climate change, former U.S. vice president Al Gore said on Monday as he promoted his latest film on global warming at the Cannes Film Festival. "An Inconvenient Sequel: Truth to Power" is the follow up to "An Inconvenient Truth," the documentary credited with bringing climate change into mainstream political discourse in the United States a decade ago.

Shot mostly before Trump's election, it features the Republican candidate on the campaign trail promising to abolish environmental regulations and boost the coal and oil industries. At one point Trump tells a rally: "We need some global warming — it's freezing!" REUTERS

HACKERS HIT RUSSIAN BANK CUSTOMERS

2 Russian cyber criminals used malware planted on Android mobile devices to steal from domestic bank customers and were planning to target European lenders before their arrest, investigators and sources with knowledge of the case told Reuters. Their campaign raised a relatively small sum by cybercrime standards - more than 50 million roubles ($892,000) - but they had also obtained more sophisticated malicious software for a modest monthly fee to go after the clients of banks in France and possibly a range of other Western nations. Russia's relationship to cyber crime is under intense scrutiny after U.S. intelligence officials alleged that Russian hackers had tried to help Republican Donald Trump win the U.S. presidency by hacking Democratic Party servers. FLYNN DECLINES US SENATE SUBPOENA

3 Former White House national security adviser Michael Flynn declined to comply with a subpoena from the Senate Intelligence Committee as it investigates possible Russian interference in the 2016 U.S. election. He invoked his Fifth Amendment protection against self-incrimination. The retired lieutenant general, a key witness in the Russia probe, sent a letter to the committee informing members of his decision. The Senate Intelligence Committee is conducting one of the main congressional probes into U.S. intelligence agency allegations of Russian meddling in the U.S. presidential election and whether there was any collusion between President Donald Trump's campaign and Russia. PREP SCHOOL STAFFERS IN SEXUAL MISCONDUCT

5 An elite New Hampshire prep school acknowledged on Monday that 13 former members of its staff engaged in sexual misconduct with students in incidents dating back decades, following an independent review by a Boston law firm. The St. Paul's School apologized and said that it had failed to adequately investigate allegations of sexual abuse by staff. The report follows the arrest last year of a former Episcopal priest, Howard White, who served as the school's chaplain in the late 1960s and early 1970s on charges that he sexually assaulted a teenage student. "The school failed to protect students from sexual abuse and sexual misconduct done to them by adults entrusted with their care," wrote Rector Michael Hirschfeld and Board of Trustees President Archibald Cox in an open letter to school families. Heartbroken dad of Times Square rampage victim pens open letter

Alyssa Elsman's father vented his rage and grief in a letter he posted at a Times Square memorial to his daughter, who was killed after an intoxicated driver plowed through a sidewalk crowded with pedestrians.

HAYDEN MITMAN
@MetroPhilly
letters@metro.us

Over the weekend, the father of the 18-year-old girl who was killed in Times Square when an intoxicated man plowed his car through a pedestrian-filled sidewalk at the famous tourist spot left a touching note in memory of his daughter at the place where she died.

"Alyssa loved this city ... she loved Times Square," Michigan resident Thomas Elsman wrote of his daughter. "She would appreciate all your kind words, but she would also tell us all to get back up and continue."

Over the weekend, Elsman placed his letter near the place where his daughter was fatally injured. He had driven to New York City from his family's home in Portage, Michigan, to visit his 13-year-old daughter – who was injured in the same crash that killed Alyssa and injured more than 20 others – and Elsman also took the time to place a personal letter at the makeshift memorial in Times Square.

On May 18, military veteran Richard Rojas intentionally drove his vehicle into a crowd in Times Square. At the time, Rojas had consumed K2, a variety of synthetic marijuana, which was reportedly laced with PCP, and he also said he intended to commit "suicide by cop" when he caused the fatal crash.

When he came to the city, Elsman initially traveled to the police district in Midtown South, shouting that he wanted to kill Rojas. At the time, Elsman was taken to Bellevue Hospital in order to give him time to deal with his grief.

"Alyssa loved this city ... she loved Times Square."

Thomas Elsman

But, in a note that Elsman left at the makeshift memorial to his daughter, the distraught father expressed his grief over his loss, while thanking the people of New York City for their love and support during this difficult time.

"There is no words that can express our gratitude with the outpouring of love and support this city has shown us. Our medical staff, the NYPD and most of all, YOU," reads the note left by Elsman. "This impromptu memorial dedicated to our daughter and seeing and talking to many of you has helped me cope with our loss. I have met so many people from different countries, religions, creeds etc... It doesn't matter... you have shown us that when you remove bias... racism... and ignorance... WE ARE ALL ONE... Your condolences have been sincere and taken to heart. Please also remember there are 20 other families affected by this and please keep them in your thoughts too."

Rojas, a resident of the Bronx, had threatened to kill police in the past and is currently in police custody. He wasn't mentioned in Elsman's letter.

"I have a hole in my heart that can never be filled. My world changed when you came into it, and it is unexplainable with you leaving it. I love you kid. Just no words <3 Love you love you love you," ends the letter that Elsman signed "Dad."

On-time rate not key for MTA: Report

"They've convinced themselves they don't need to worry about abysmal 'on-time' performance," a source said.

NIKKI M. MASCALI
@MetroNewYork
nikki.mascali@metro.us

Timeliness of the MTA subway system is important to New Yorkers, but a new report indicates it may not be important to the agency. GETTY FILE PHOTO

To say the MTA is inundated with New Yorkers' complaints of late is likely an understatement, and the reveal of a new internal report from the agency, which was obtained by the New York Daily News, may not help matters.

The city's subway system is the largest in the world, and its users rely on it, many solely, to get them where they need to go in a fast, efficient manner, but on-time importance is not top of mind for the agency, according to the report.

The report was authored by an MTA senior director of performance analysis and two associate analysts who examined the system's frequent train delays as well as the "seeming impossibility of improving the numbers," the Daily News reported.

Despite the more-than-100-year-old system facing constant issues due to aged train cars, tracks and track equipment such as signals, the MTA is requesting that its staffers address the long wait times between trains by having them travel faster or slower, wait in stations or skip stops altogether, the report said.

The trains, the report said, should be held to an "on-time performance" guideline, which means they have a window of arriving at their last stop no more than five minutes late.

The agency is "not that worried about service," a source with knowledge of the internal study told the Daily News. "They just think that it's not really that bad. They've convinced themselves they don't need to worry about abysmal 'on-time' performance."

In fact, the report indicated that there is a "high level of interest" among agency brass to dissolve the "on-time performance" standard from their monthly public reports.

MTA interim Director Ronnie Hakim told the Daily News that she did not read the internal report and was "not going to give credibility to a report that is not a formal NYC Transit position statement."

Last week, the MTA released a six-point plan to improve its system issues and get back in the good graces of its millions of users.

"We know riders are frustrated — we are too — which is why we are embracing this new plan," Hakim said when the initiative was announced. "Increasing delays are simply unacceptable, which is why we have to commit to addressing the immediate problems with all the tools at our disposal."

Leadership reorganization, the addition of new trains, improving signals, increasing EMT and police presence in certain stations and more were among the plan's bullet points.

The MTA did not respond to a request for comment from Metro regarding the internal report.

Alamo Drafthouse to bring movies, booze and gourmet food to FiDi: Report

The movie chain is set to open a 10-screen complex at 28 Liberty next year.

NIKKI M. MASCALI
@MetroNewYork
nikki.mascali@metro.us

Come next year, the Financial District won't just be for moving and shaking — it'll be for drinking, movies and gourmet food with the addition of the Alamo Drafthouse Cinema, the second such theater in the neighborhood.

The Alamo Drafthouse is set to become one of the tenants at 28 Liberty, the former One Chase Manhattan Plaza between Pine, Liberty, Nassau and William streets in the Financial District, the New York Post reported.

The 20-year-old Austin, Texas-based cinema chain, in which moviegoers can drink alcohol and eat gourmet fare while they enjoy fine cinema, is slated to sign a lease to bring a 10-screen, 600-seat theater complex to 28 Liberty in 2018.

Terms of the lease are unknown at this time, but the lease is expected to be inked sometime within the next two weeks. Rents for the 200,000-square-foot retail space are reportedly about $100 per square foot, according to the Post.

In 2015, building owner Fosun International received approval to turn 200,000 square feet of 28 Liberty's five below-ground levels into retail space.

The Alamo Drafthouse will be located on the third underground level, a source told the Post, and will occupy 40,000 square feet of the now-under-construction property. It will open just a few blocks from the South Street Seaport, where iPic, a theater chain that also serves alcohol and gourmet food, opened last fall.

A rendering of 28 Liberty, which is set to be home to Manhattan's first Alamo Drafthouse Cinema. 28LIBERTY.COM

28 Liberty is a 60-story skyscraper that is the city's 15th tallest building. Construction, which was commenced by then-Chase Manhattan Bank president David Rockefeller, was completed in 1961, and the public plaza surrounding it opened three years later.

Alamo Drafthouse has 26 theaters across the country, including one that opened last year in Brooklyn and one in Yonkers that opened in 2013. A Staten Island location was announced back in April, and is set to open in the summer of 2019 at the Boulevard shopping center in New Dorp, SILive.com reported.

Additionally, as part of the 28 Liberty's revamping, celebrity restaurateur Danny Meyer is slated to open a new restaurant on the skyscraper's 60th floor.

Metro reached out to Alamo Drafthouse about its upcoming 28 Liberty location but has not heard back as of press time.

Knee Arthritis Me

Cutting-Edge Knee Arthritis Treatments No

Now World-Class Regenerative Medicine, Stem Cell and More F

NY City - If you are reading this, I know a few things about you.

First, you suffer with knee arthritis pain.

And that pain is having a dramatic affect on your life.

The pain not only stops you from doing simply things like getting up and walking without discomfort...

It makes your entire life miserable.

Life's just not worth living this way

I also know you have tried many things.

Pain pills, steroid shots, exercise and probably some "wonder cures" you saw advertised on tv or the internet.

None of it worked

And every time you got your hopes up just a little, you were just massively disappointed. Again.

Because of this, you are skeptical. Very skeptical. And you deserve to be.

Because nothing is more depressing than living in constant pain and...

Not getting any REAL answers

You might even be faced with getting knee replacement surgery.

This is a scary thought. Am I right?

No one wants knee replacement surgery. And, even though it has advanced considerably in recent years, it is still a MAJOR procedure with a lot of painful rehabilitation... and risk.

And, although some people need knee replacement surgery... many who think they do... do not.

I think we can agree... it should always be the last resort. And it should not be done if there is a better option.

Now that we know each other a little better, let me ask you this...

After all you have been through, are you still open-minded enough to try a new and revolutionary knee arthritis treatment...

If it could help you... and...

If you could afford it?

I bet you are. That's why you are still reading. Right?

Well, what if there actually was a real medical treatment... that could help YOU.

Even better... what if there was a super advanced treatment the rich and famous (and professional athletes) have already been using... that actually has the potential to not only eliminate your knee arthritis pain... but possible heal it.

And probably best of all... what if this treatment that used to be WAY out of your price range is now affordable by just about anyone.

Sounds too good to be true?

It sure does.

But it's true, and in just a moment I'm going to prove it to you.

And with that proof, you will discover new hope for your knee arthritis pain that might change your life... in as little as 30 days.

Here's what this is all about:

I'm sure you've heard about stem cell therapy and the reports of how wonderful it is.

Everyone has.

I'm sure you also know that rich celebrities and athletes have the money and connection to get treatments the "average Joe" can't.

It's not fair... but it's just the way it is.

For example, some medical clinics charge over $10,000 per procedure... and insurance does not pay.

I don't know about you... but that's a lot of dough for average folks!

Now for something you do not know...

Thankfully, medical technology changes fast. And with these advances, doctors should and can charge much less for certain procedures...

IF THEY REALLY WANT TO HELP PEOPLE.

That's why a medical clinic located in New York, NYC Pain MD, has been absolutely FLOODED with knee, hip and shoulder arthritis sufferers.

They are offering a very advanced Lipogems cell procedure for arthritis and joint pain at a price almost anyone can afford.

And once the word got out they often were getting over 100 calls a day!

Excited? You should be. Because this is a real medical procedure that can possibly end your pain and suffering and give you your life back.... at a reasonable fee you

Revolutionary Arthritis Treatment? Your own fat cells are prepared in proprietary method creating tiny units of just a few fat cells surrounding Mesenchymal Stem Cells which have the ability to wall off inflammation and morph or change into new cells that are believed not only to heal but possibly promote new tissue growth when these Lipogems are carefully placed into your arthritic, painful joint. dical News Alert:

t Just For The Rich And Famous Anymore

inally Available In NYC...At Prices Almost Anyone Can Afford can afford.

I told you this was going to get good. Really good.

What Exactly Is This Special Procedure?

Glad you asked.

The procedure is called "Lipogems" and here's how it can possible help you.

An Italian surgeon, Dr. Carlo Tremolada discovered a revolutionary way to naturally prepare stem cells and treat knee and many other arthritis ailments.

Taking a small amount of your own belly fat... his specialized technique separates the stem cells... and then precisely places the them right back into the arthritic and painful joint.

This is a very unique procedure that some experts feel is superior to others (like bone marrow) because of the number and quality of stem cells (MSCs)... not to mention doctors do not have to punch a hole in your bone. OUCH!

The best part is the results. After the stem cells are placed into the arthritic joint... they begin to do their "magic" within 5 to 10 days.

These stem cells (MSCs) stop inflammation and begin to heal the arthritis pain.

Let's be clear about this:

There is no drug or surgery that even comes close to doing what Lipogems cells (MSCs) can do when done precisely.

It even gets better... for you...

The doctors at NY Pain MD where personally trained in this Lipogems procedure by it's founder and leading expert, Dr. Carlo Tremolada.

They are getting incredible results with this cutting-edge medical procedure... and now... if you qualify... you can see if this treatment of the future can help your joint arthritis pain... right now.

And, obviously, for MUCH less than the $10,000 others charge.

You know, you're obviously really serious about finding an answer to your arthritis joint pain, possibly eliminating the pain and finally living and enjoying the life you really want... and I just want to take a moment to acknowledge you for that.

Most people never put aside their well deserved skepticism and take the time to educate themselves the way you have.

You are reading this admittedly lengthy message and you really have the commitment and determination to do this now.

That's another reason why you're perfect for this

It's specifically for people like you are open minded and took the time to get educated and who want to finally relieve their arthritis pain... because this treatment can possibly do that for you.

So, Here's What To Do Right Now

If you would like to find out if Lipogems can help you - you are invited in for a risk free no-obligation screening.

During this screening you will get a chance to ask questions and find out if you are a candidate for this advanced medical treatment - and what your best options are.

The screening is completely free and without obligation.

After your screening, you will breath a big sigh or relief knowing what your options are and the best way to deal with your pain.

If you are not sure - I know exactly how you feel. Arthritis pain is brutal. And it is hard to get straight answers.

So many patients felt the same way.

They told us they they had given up until they read some information just like this and they came in to see us.

Then their life changed so fast - it was incredible

Call our scheduling dept. today at 800-589-8160.

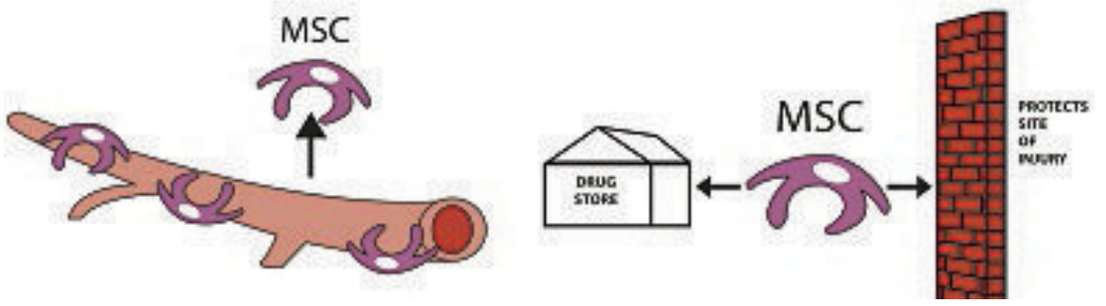
The worst thing that can happen is you find out you do not qualify and this treatment is not for you.

But what if we really can help you?

What if we really can get rid of some of all your pain?

What would that be worth you you?

If it is worth a small amount of your time - call us at: 800-589-8160.



Stem Cell "Magic" Not Just For Rich and Famous Anymore? When injury and diseases such as arthritis occur, MSCs (a type of stem cell) come off blood vessels and (1) protect the site of injury and (2) produce the exact amount of healing chemistry or "natural drugs" necessary to safely heal the injury. Hopefully, you can look forward to avoiding surgery and getting off the toxic medications.

The scent of spray paint wafted through the air as an ordinary-looking wall in the Bronx quickly went from a blank slate to a colorful work of art designed for — and by — the very kids who will benefit the most from it.

"The idea of doing something with kids is always appealing to me," artist John "Crash" Matos told Metro as he shook a spray can during a brief respite from painting during last week's heat.

Matos and Wilfredo "Bio" Feliciano from Tats Cru, two graffiti artists who have long gone legit after cutting their teeth in New York's infamous street-art scene back in the '70s and '80s, have created a vibrant mural in the private playground area of the Barrier Free Living (BFL) Apartments in the Bronx.

The building is a permanent, non-shelter residence for survivors of domestic violence and their families, including 91 children, many of whom attend the in-house childcare center connected to the outdoor playground.

The area's formerly white wall has been turned into a brightly colored mural with a boom box and music notes, flowers, a glasses-wearing smiley-faced emoji and more.

"It engenders hope, positivity, lightness and color for the kids, who have seen a lot of darkness in their life," said Scott Hess, director of communications for BFL.

"This will brighten up their day, and it doesn't seem so secluded or like they're back in the shelter again," added GiGi, the president of the building's tenant advisory board who declined to give her last name. "They'll see what they wanted on the wall, and it's very important because they constantly come from where no one listens, so to actually have someone do something and listen, it means their voices are being heard."

To take that one step further, Matos and Feliciano included a chalkboard-paint area for the kids to be able to add their own art to the mural. The two were set to begin a second mural behind the BPL Apartments on Monday.

Matos and Feliciano hooked up with BFL Apartments thanks to 501 See Streets, which aims to beautify the five boroughs and beyond with murals done by local artists. The nonprofit is the brainchild of Queens resident Noah Sheroff, who, ironically, "can barely draw a straight line with a ruler."

The organization was born after Sheroff became "obsessed" with street art, and since doing its first project in 2014 — a series of rolled gates near Yankee Stadium devoted to team greats like Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig — 501 See Streets has done more than 20 interior and exterior murals in and around New York.

"At the very least, [our work] adds some degree of positivity, something different, something unique to look at that breaks up the daily grind," Sheroff said.

He finds places to do murals simply by reaching out to property owners and management companies; funding generally comes from them, as well as business improvement districts, other nonprofits and even city officials.

Sheroff hopes to eventually take 501 See Streets national and do more projects in areas like Harlem, the Bronx and Long Island, as well as the organization's first mural in Staten Island, the only borough it hasn't worked in yet but hopes to soon.

For more info about the organization, visit 501seestreets.org.

Explosion at Ariana Grande concert in Manchester leaves 19 dead; suicide bomber identified

A man at the scene has been identified as the probable suicide bomber, who killed at least 19 in a "serious incident" amid reports of an explosion during an Ariana Grande concert on Monday, according to reports. At least 50 people were reported injured.

Witnesses reported hearing two loud bangs around 10:35 p.m. local time as Ariana Grande finished her performance. A CNN correspondent reported at least one blast occurred in a hallway outside of the arena and resulted in bedlam as concertgoers attempted to flee the venue.

Shortly after the event, an emotional witness told CNN that she saw 20 or 30 bodies laying on the floor, but at the time, the number of deaths had not been confirmed.

Some deaths and injuries could have been caused by a stampede, NBC tweeted.

"We were making our way out and when we were right by the door, there was a massive explosion and everybody was screaming," Catherine Macfarlane, who was at the concert, told Reuters. "It was a huge explosion – you could feel it in your chest. It was chaotic. Everybody was running and screaming and just trying to get out."

Police are treating the incident as a terror attack until they know otherwise, but they are not confirming that the attack was indeed terror-related. Witnesses reported that many children were at the U.S. pop star's concert.

If confirmed as a terrorism incident, it would be the deadliest attack in Britain by militants since four British Muslims killed 52 people in suicide bombings on London's transport system in July 2005. The blast also came two and half weeks ahead of an election in which Prime Minister Theresa May is predicted by opinion polls to win a large majority.

Family members are posting photos of loved ones on Twitter in the hopes that someone has been in contact and knows if they are OK.

Britain is on its second-highest alert level of "severe," meaning an attack by militants is considered highly likely.

Scandal-plagued Fox News hit with more lawsuits in U.S. court

Fox News was hit with new sexual harassment and discrimination lawsuits on Monday, adding to the catalog of complaints that has rattled the U.S. cable news network and its corporate parent 21st Century Fox Inc.

New York City lawyer Douglas Wigdor filed lawsuits in federal court in Manhattan on behalf of Kathleen Lee, a Fox News Radio shift editor who says she was sexually harassed and subjected to "unceasing retaliation" for complaining, and Naima Farrow, who maintains she was fired from her job as an accounts payable coordinator after telling supervisors she was pregnant.

In a third case in the same court, Vidya Mann, a Fox News accounts receivable specialist, said she was taken on as a temporary employee but passed over for permanent jobs in favor of white coworkers.

A spokeswoman at Fox News said the company believes the suits are without merit, noting that the company took prompt action and takes all complaints of discrimination seriously.

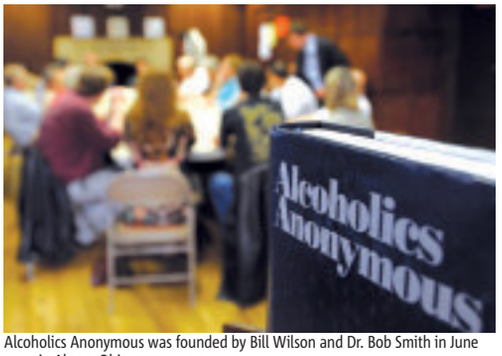
The new legal claims come as Fox News is already battling a series of lawsuits that led to the resignations of former chief executive Roger Ailes, who died last week, star anchor Bill O'Reilly and network co-president Bill Shine.

Wigdor said he was also representing an unidentified black information technology employee who was subjected to racially insensitive remarks by Bob Beckel, an on-air host who was fired last week, days after the worker complained. REUTERS

Alcoholics Anonymous sues to recover original manuscript

The original manuscript that became the basis for Alcoholics Anonymous is the subject of a new lawsuit by the organization, which wants to reclaim it before it can be auctioned next month.

According to a complaint filed in New York on Monday, the working draft for AA's basic text, known as the Big Book and describing the famous 12-step program to help people stop drinking and stay sober, is scheduled to be auctioned on June 8 by Profiles in History in Calabasas, California.



Alcoholics Anonymous was founded by Bill Wilson and Dr. Bob Smith in June 1935 in Akron, Ohio. GETTY IMAGES

But the plaintiff Alcoholics Anonymous World Services said the seller, Ken Roberts, had no right to consign the manuscript because it had been gifted to AA in 1979, though because of the "extreme negligence" of others was never turned over.

AA said it learned about the gift in 2007, three months after Roberts bought the manuscript for $992,000 at Sotheby's, and sued after he refused its demand to turn over the manuscript rather than sell it.

Profiles in History has estimated that the manuscript could fetch $2 million to $3 million.

The lawsuit filed in a state court in Manhattan names the auction house, Roberts and Questroyal Fine Art, a New York gallery that displayed the manuscript this month, as defendants.

"The manuscript is an original, historical document of unique importance to AAWS, and undeniably is a critical piece of its history," and the defendants "are wrongfully detaining the manuscript for their own pecuniary gain," the complaint said.

Roberts and a spokeswoman for Profiles in History did not immediately respond to requests for comment. Questroyal declined to comment.

The Big Book, also known as "Alcoholics Anonymous," was written mainly by AA co-founder William Wilson, better known as "Bill W."

First published in 1939, it is in its fourth edition and has sold more than 30 million copies, according to AA's website. The group has more than 2.1 million individual members.

AA said Bill W.'s widow inherited the original manuscript after his 1971 death and gifted it to Barry Leach in 1978, who the following year gifted it back to AA upon his death, which occurred in 1985. REUTERS

Feet Hurt? Bunions? Hammertoes? Heel Pain?

Platelet Rich Plasma Therapy (PRP)
A new approach for treating Tendon Injuries for the Achilles, Tendonitis and Plantar Fasciitis (Heel and Arch Pain)

Take The Foot Health Checkup

- My toenails are streaked, discolored and thickened.
- The sides of my toenails dig into the skin and hurt.
- I have a large bump behind my big toe (or little toe) which is always red.
- I get an extremely painful "cramp" in the area of my third and fourth toes when wearing shoes.
- My toes aren't straight– they are all cocked-up, bent and hurt.
- I have painful calluses on the ball of my foot which keep building up.
- I have corns on my toes which get thick no matter what shoe size I wear.
- The bottom of my heel hurts all day, but it's worse when I step out of bed in the morning.
- I have cramps in my legs which always happen when I walk the same distance.
- My ankles are swollen most of the time.
- My feet are always dry and scaly – sometimes they itch.
- My feet just hurt all over when I stand or walk a lot.
- I have numbness, burning, infection, persistent pain, skin rash, or open sores.

Scarlett Johansson and Colin Jost do some heavy petting

Scarlett Johansson — a woman who thinks monogamy is for suckers — was caught making out with a dude from "Saturday Night Live" the other day.

The 32-year-old, who briefly starred as Ivanka Trump on the cold open for Saturday's "SNL" finale, headed to the after party and made out with none other than "Weekend Update's" Colin Jost. Girl, I guess.

Multiple sources confirm to Page Six that the two hit it off at the boozy postfinale celebrations. Sounds to me like a classic, get drunk and make out with whoever is closest to you sort of thing, to be honest.

Another source said the pair was flirting and canoodling and can we just agree that "canoodling" is the worst word, ever?

Anyway, whether this was a one-time thing, or these two will be touching mouths for months to come, kudos! We've all been at an after-party where the lighting is dim and romantic, and the booze is just a-flowing, and your lips come this close to someone else's lips and you just make out. And then, some sneak who has been creeping on you goes to Page Six and tells all your business. I mean, we've all been there, right?

Put that divorce behind you, girl.

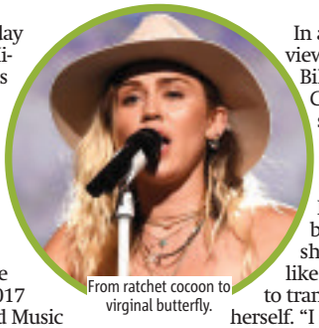
Miley Cyrus has completed her transformation

On Sunday night, Miley Cyrus performed her new single "Malibu" for the first time at the 2017 Billboard Music Awards. It was emotional, or something! According to E! News, she choked up while singing the last verse of the song — which is about her fiancé, Liam Hemsworth.



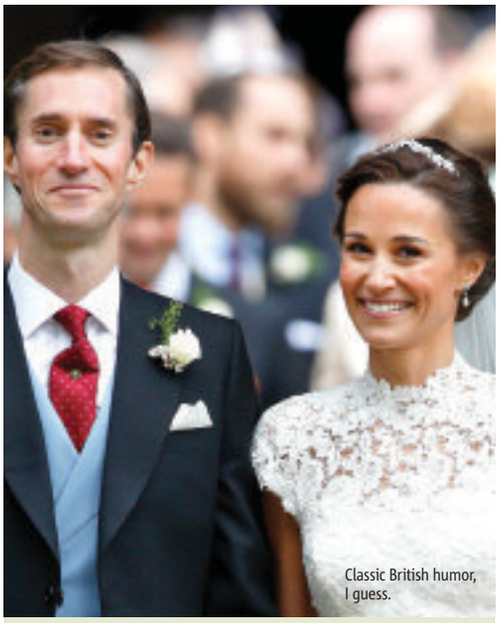
From ratchet cocoon to virginal butterfly.

It's nice that Miley and Liam are back together after breaking up in 2013 — around the time Miley made herself into a modern-day court jester. But why, exactly, did the pop star transform herself from twerking nincompoop to virginal country crooner?

In an interview with Billboard, Cyrus said that she broke up with Liam because she just like, needed to transform herself. "I needed to change so much. And changing with someone else not changing like that is too hard."

"I f—ing hate it when people can't adjust," she admitted to the mag. "I used to [resist changing]. But I haven't smoked weed in three weeks, which is the longest I've ever [gone without it] … That was just something that I wanted to do."

There you have it. That's how Miley Cyrus became a drug-free, living hipster Virgin Mary figurine. Can't wait for her next phase!



Classic British humor, I guess.

The best man at Pippa Middleton's wedding was actually the worst

You know how Pippa Middleton finally married her very rich beau, James Matthews, this weekend? No, I know — I was too focused on whatever was happening with Meghan Markle and The Hot Ginger Prince, too. But after all, it was Pippa's day, so let's give her some attention for a little while.

According to E! News, the reception was the perfect opportunity for Matthew's best man, Justin Johannsen, to make some uncomfortable bro-y jokes. Hooray!

The bawdy groomsman started off by referring to 33-year-old Pippa as the love of James' life, deeming her "beautiful" and "energetic" and "loyal" and … "soft-mouthed." He added that she "comes on command" and has a "great behind." Oh, dear. "But that's enough about James' spaniel," he quipped. "I'm here to talk about James' love, Pippa." Wow, this dude sounds like a nightmare!

But he said some nice stuff, too. Addressing Pippa directly he said, "I think I can say for everyone, that you look stunning. The image of perfection … You make James extremely happy." Nice, I guess!

How Bryan Cranston stays sane in the Trump age

The legend says his new film "Wakefield" taps into our need to escape reality.

MATT PRIGGE
@mattprigge
matt.prigge@metro.us

Bryan Cranston plays a man who pretends that he's missing for months and months in "Wakefield." Now in theaters. IFC FILMS

Bryan Cranston's post-"Breaking Bad" life has been going great. He played Lyndon B. Johnson on Broadway and won a Tony. His role in "Trumbo" received an Oscar nod. He's co-created an Amazon show, "Sneaky Pete," starring Giovanni Ribisi. His even popped up in the "Power Rangers" movie. Now the 61-year-old legend is in "Wakefield," which really allows him to shine. He plays a wealthy man who whimsically decides not to go home one night. Instead, he holes up in the attic of his garage, pretending to be missing, presumed dead, all while spying on his wife (Jennifer Garner) and kids. And this goes on for months and months.

GETTY

Ignoring how cruel it is to abandon his family, what your character does here — drop out of society — is pretty alluring these days.
This need we have to slow down or to get away, to release yourself of any kind of responsibility, has been eternal. Especially now, in this day of extreme technology, when we're expected to do more. The advent of all this wonderful machinery has raised our levels of expectation. We're just now feeling the pressure of it.

It's also important to our mental health to take breaks every now and then from everything Trump does.
That is true. What we have to do is find a compromise. I have not read any news today. We can start with that. You can start by allowing your brain to shut off from the bombardment of information. That on its own is like a minivacation, if you don't read any news.

When I was doing Broadway three years ago, Audra McDonald gave me a tip that she used: She said she didn't speak on Mondays. She needed to rest her vocal chords to be able to continue strong for the rest of the week. I started to do that. And I kept it up. It was not only good for my vocal strength, but it saved my energy. By not speaking, my whole demeanor throughout the day was calmer — and quieter, obviously. I would walk at a slower pace. I would take a nap. Boy, I really shut out — and in the middle of New York City. We are capable of doing that, if we choose to do so.

Looking back

"Better Call Saul" has been bringing more and more "Breaking Bad" characters onto the show. Giancarlo Esposito's Gus Fring is on it now. Do you ever feel left out of the party?
No. "Breaking Bad" had such a natural beginning, middle and end to it. It felt complete to me. I was able to walk away without feeling, "Oh man, I wish we could do more. It feels like an open wound." It really felt like it had closure to it. Most shows are canceled without being completed. But "Breaking Bad" wasn't like that. It had a brilliant close, and I felt great about it. It was time to move on. So, no, I'm just a big fan of "Saul." I love the show, I think it's brilliantly done, and Bob [Odenkirk] is killing it. The look is very familiar, and yet the characters are mostly different, what's going on is different. It's interesting and alluring.

Do you ever think they may call you onto the show, ask you to bring back Walter White?
The answer is: I don't know. I don't!

The hottest characters on the new 'Twin Peaks'

Both Dale Coopers can get it.

KATE MOONEY
@yatinbrooklyn
kate.mooney@metro.us

BOB-possessed Dale Cooper
ALL PHOTOS SHOWTIME

Cooper and Laura Palmer in the Black Lodge

Deputy Hawk, still fine.

The new "Twin Peaks" has arrived, and the residents are looking damn fine 25 years later. Lynch's new take brings with it a whole new level of bizarre — and no shortage of eye candy. Based on who we've encountered so far in the first two episodes, here's who's still got it from the returning cast, and who's looking fresh among the new arrivals. (Spoiler: not Matthew Lillard.)

Dale Cooper No. 1 (Kyle MacLachlan)
We'll call him "Good Cooper," the FBI agent we know and cherish, with boyish good looks and equal passions for cherry pie and the truth. He's currently trapped in the Black Lodge, being a pretty good sport about having to contend with bizarro versions of Laura Palmer, the one-armed man and even a deranged, sentient tree, while his Bob-possessed doppelganger wreaks havoc in the real world. We hope he gets out soon. In the meantime, just look at those kind eyes, that lovely head of hair, that chin!

Dale Cooper No. 2 (MacLachlan)
Bad Cooper! We're pleased that Dale's BOB-possessed doppelganger is more badass than scary, because we're not sure we could handle the latter. Bad Coop is a lowlife con man with bottomless black eyes, shaggy hair, a '70s era leather jacket — and just enough sex appeal. We're pretty sure MacLachlan is wearing bronzer. (Yes, he's slightly caricatured, but we're here for it.) We're ready for Good Coop's emancipation from red-roomed hell, but we'll gladly watch his villainous version strut around, seduce and set fire to everything in his path.

Laura Palmer (Sheryl Lee)
The show's central victim has returned, and while we can't say for sure what or who she is now ("I died, yet I live," she tells Cooper, in that slow motion, Black Lodge effect, sashaying across the patterned floor) we're happy to lay eyes on her again, this time, not wrapped in plastic. Lee a quarter century later is still a looker, and we didn't realize how satisfying it'd be to see her lean over and plant a kiss on Cooper's lips, before ascending with a witchlike wail, possibly swallowed up by the red curtains forever. Long live Laura Palmer.

Deputy Hawk (Michael Horse)
What a silver … hawk. Deputy Tommy "Hawk" Hill was fine as hell in the original "Twin Peaks," and we're pleased to report he looks exactly the same, dangly earrings and all, except now he's rocking an exquisite silver mane. He fields calls from the Log Lady, who tells him "something's missing," and roams the woods, using his Native American instincts to try and find it. Go, Hawk, go.

Shelly Johnson, (Madchen Amick)
Grown-up diner girl Shelly Johnson is now a total MILF. We catch her throwing back shots with her gal pals at the Roadhouse, while James (James David Greenblatt) — still creepy and annoying — can't take his eyes off her from across the room. Where's Bobby? We like the idea of Shelly single and free of dirtbags Leo and Bobby who both dragged her down in her early years. Free Shelly! And James, get a life.

Instagram could be the reason you hate your life

But Youtube makes users the happiest, according to study

KATE MOONEY
@yatinbrooklyn
kate.mooney@metro.us

While you might find scrolling through Instagram to be a soothing, mindless pastime (pretty pictures, what's the harm?), it turns out the app of sunsets and selfies is majorly messing with your head. Selena Gomez was onto something!

According to a study from England's Royal Society for Public Health and the advocacy group Youth Health Movement, Instagram ranked as the worst social-media platform for mental health among users in their teens and early 20s.

The report, called #StatusofMind, compiled data from a 2017 survey of nearly 1,500 young people ages 14-24 across the U.K. They were asked to rate how different social media platforms impact feelings of FOMO, body image, anxiety, etc. YouTube ranked as the most positive, followed by Twitter, Facebook, Snapchat and then Insta.

Wouldn't Twitter be the most anxiety-inducing? Are younger folks less affected by the onslaught of apocalyptic news than they are vulnerable to the FOMO induced by a pic of a barbecue they weren't invited to? Do people still watch YouTube for anything beyond trailers, music videos, makeup tutorials? (Perhaps that's why they find it so positive.)

"Socializing from behind a screen can also be uniquely isolating, obscuring mental health challenges even more than usual," Laci Green, a 27-year-old professional health YouTuber with 1.5 million subscribers, said in a statement. "As the first generation of social media users become adults, it is important that we lay the groundwork now to minimize potential harm and shape a digital future that is healthy and thriving." Sure.

We'd all do well to pay closer attention to how the social-media experience makes us feel. If your chest tightens as you scroll past a photo of your ex and his new girlfriend, honor that feeling by maybe … unfollowing him. If your frenemy's glam selfies make you feel inferior, remind yourself it probably took multiple attempts before she hit "post." If it's just too much, do as Selena and delete your account.

Why Suffer With Fibroids?

VIVA·EVE Uterine Fibroid Embolization (UFE) can:
- Treat heavy bleeding, severe cramps, painful intercourse, bloating, and more
- Help you avoid major surgery such as hysterectomy or myomectomy
- Quickly restore harmony to your body

VivaEve's UFE is a minimally invasive, FDA-approved alternative to fibroid surgery, and is covered by most insurance plans.

Our licensed, board-certified doctors are UFE experts. Our caring staff, state-of-the-art outpatient facility, and thoughtful, diligent follow-up measures have won praise from our patients:

"It was like night and day. My stomach feels smaller, my cycle is much lighter and I definitely have more energy. I really liked the VivaEve staff and I am so happy I chose UFE instead of one of the major surgeries."
— Luann, 42

"My doctor recommended VivaEve. She had several patients who did their UFE there and were very pleased with the results… My life doesn't stop during my cycle anymore."
— Tania, 38

10 Healthy and delicious snacks to eat at your desk

ISTOCK

Satisfy the workday cravings with these good-for-you munchies.

KATE MOONEY
@yatinbrooklyn
kate.mooney@metro.us

We spend so many hours sitting in front of the computer at work, and we need pick-me-ups to keep energized throughout the day. Besides coffee, we often find a boost in the form of snacks; but opting for chips or candy from the vending machine is a calorie-packed trap we'd do best to avoid. Here are 10 healthy and delicious snacks — nutritionist approved! — that you should try instead.

Chia pudding

Willow Jarosh and Stephanie Clarke, registered dietitians of C&J Nutrition, recommend this semisweet, healthful treat. "Chia seeds absorb up to 10 times their weight in water, which means that they provide hydration along with protein and fiber," says Clarke. "Make a simple chia pudding with mashed banana, milk, and chia seeds and keep it in a small jar in the fridge until you're ready to eat … or opt for a premade version like the Chia Pods from The Chia Co."

THE CHIA CO.

Roasted chickpeas

This crunchy, protein-filled snack makes for a great salty fix, says Kayleen St. John, director of nutrition at Euphebe. "They're easy to make homemade — drain a can of chickpeas and dry well, toss in olive oil, salt, cayenne and paprika, bake at 400 degrees for 30 minutes or until crunchy," she says.

ARE YOU CURRENTLY TAKING A MEDICATION BUT STILL FEELING

Beef, turkey or chicken jerky

Need an energy boost? Vitamin-B and protein is what you need, according to Rebecca Scritchfield, Washington, D.C., nutritionist and the author of "Body Kindness."

Opt for a lean-meat snack; Whole Foods sells a pack of its 365 brand organic turkey jerky for $7, and it alsos carry Krave artisanal sesame beef jerky, $6.

Peanut butter and fruit sandwich

Peanut butter has the protein you need, but the sugar-packed jelly that rounds out a PB&J makes the childhood favorite a less healthy option. Instead, "spread your favorite peanut butter on a slice of whole grain bread, layer with your favorite sliced fruit (we are loving strawberries right now since they're in season), fold in half and enjoy as a snack that delivers protein, healthy fat, and high fiber carbs," recommends Jarosh.

KRAVE ARTISANAL JERKY

Kefir

Scritchfield recommends this fermented drinkable yogurt. It will give you a good dose of probiotics, which aid in gut health and help reduce stress. Just sip at your desk, easy-peasy.

An apple and nut butter

Stephanie Middleberg of the NYC-based Middleberg Nutrition says it's important to make sure you're getting in some protein with your snack. She loves almond or nut butter with an apple. If you forget to pack the nut butter, you can purchase individual packets like Justin's, Artisana, Barney's at the bodega. "Add string cheese for a more interesting twist, or do dried mango plus almond butter (a favorite)," she says.

Healthy trail mix

Instead of a vending machine Snickers, to satisfy a sweet tooth while actually getting in some protein and vitamins, opt for trail mix with nuts, dried fruit and dark chocolate mixed in. Scritchfield suggests making your own in bulk and then portioning it out into baggies for the week.

Edamame

"Keep a bag of frozen edamame pods at work. When you need a snack, heat up a few handfuls in the microwave and snack away," suggests St. John.

"Full of fiber and protein, this snack will also keep your mind occupied while you shell the edamame pods," she adds.

Hummus and veggies

For an afternoon nosh, try crunchy, hydrating veggies — like baby carrots, grape tomatoes, mini-cucumbers — dipped in hummus, a great source of protein and healthy fat.

"Think of it as dinner one. You want something savory, and chances are you didn't get enough veggies yet in your day," says Scritchfield.

One to two squares of 85 percent dark chocolate

"If you're craving something sweet and can't resist — go for it, but be sure to go dark," says St. John. She recommends one or two squares of dark chocolate that "will kill that craving while providing a solid dose of antioxidants and even fiber," she explains. "The darker it is, the less sugar and more fiber there will be — win-win."

Once a great strength, pitching is now the Mets' biggest weakness

New York's arms have been a train wreck this season.

JOE PANTORNO
@JoePantorno
joseph.pantorno@metro.us

"Let's not get down, which they're not. They're a veteran team and they'll fight back. They have in the past and they'll do it again."
Mets manager Terry Collins on his team's struggles
(h/t Peter Botte, New York Daily News)

Hansel Robles continues to get innings despite struggling mightily as a middle reliever within the Mets' bullpen. GETTY IMAGES

Remember when the Mets' pitching rotation was the toast of Major League Baseball?

Five young, fireballing starters, a solid setup man, and a premier closer had many predicting the Mets to rise to the top of the standings in low-scoring games.

Myself, you, your neighbor and the guy yelling on television about this were all wrong.

No Noah Syndergaard, no Seth Lugo, no Steven Matz and no Jeurys Familia (that premier closer) has left the Mets with a ragtag bunch of arms that are a shell of what they used to be.

Through their first 42 games this season, the Mets' pitching allowed 5.64 runs per game, most in the majors.

The bullpen has been a dumpster fire and the starting pitching has been inconsistent, to say the least.

New York has already experienced 25 games in which it has allowed five runs or more, eight games of eight-plus and one disaster against the Washington Nationals that saw the NL East rivals cross the plate 23 times.

Even with the team seeing Yoenis Cespedes, Lucas Duda, Asdrubal Cabrera and Travis d'Arnaud go down with injuries already, the Mets' scoring offense is still ranked within the top 10 of the majors with five runs per game. So that's clearly not the problem.

Just by looking at the individual numbers of some of the pitchers they're relying on the most, it's easy to see the source of the Mets' nightmare:

Matt Harvey- 2-3, 5.56 ERA, 31 K's in 8 starts
Career numbers: 31-31, 3.15 ERA

Robert Gsellman- 2-3, 6.75 ERA, 30 K's in 7 starts
2016 season numbers: 4-2, 2.42 ERA

Addison Reed- 3.18 ERA, 8 runs, 5 home runs, 18 hits allowed in 22.2 innings
2016 season numbers: 1.97 ERA, 17 earned runs, 4 home runs, 60 hits allowed in 77.2 innings

Hansel Robles- 6.23 ERA, 13 walks, 15 runs, 21 hits allowed in 21.2 innings
2016 season numbers: 3.48 ERA, 36 walks, 30 earned runs, 69 hits allowed in 77.2 innings

Fernando Salas- 5.59 ERA, 12 earned runs, 24 hits allowed in 19.1 innings
2016 season numbers with Mets: 2.08 ERA, 4 runs, 11 hits allowed in 17.1 innings

Yankees bullpen shining under heavy workload

The pinstripes' relievers have stepped up in a big way over the past week.

JOE PANTORNO
@JoePantorno
joseph.pantorno@metro.us

Forget opposite day. It might as well be opposite year given the way things have played out during the early portions of New York's baseball season.

While the Mets' struggles on the mound continue, the Yankees' bullpen has been solid despite working under some difficult conditions, especially as of late.

In their last 11 games entering Monday night, the Yankees did not see a single starter get past the seventh-inning point. Masahiro Tanaka was the last to do so when he spun seven together against the Cincinnati Reds on May 8.

Since then, he's only pitched a combined 4.2 innings in two starts to headline starting inconsistencies within the rotation. But the bullpen has picked up the slack greatly.

In 138.2 innings entering Monday night, the Yankees' bullpen ERA was at 2.73, third-best in the majors having only allowed 42 runs and a .202 batting average against.

Compare that to the crosstown Mets, whose bullpen is one of the worst in baseball with a 5.08 ERA (28th in MLB) and .271 batting average against.

The Yankees have continued the success even without closer Aroldis Chapman, who has been sidelined because of rotator cuff inflammation.

Six different arms have picked up the slack within the bullpen, allowing the Bronx Bombers to stay in contention:

Adam Warren:
2.31 ERA, 22 K's in 23.1 innings

Jonathan Holder:
1.93 ERA, 20 K's in 18.2 innings

Dellin Betances, who is acting as closer while Aroldis Chapman recovers, has led the Yankees' bullpen. GETTY IMAGES

Tyler Clippard:
1.45 ERA, 27 K's in 18.2 innings

Dellin Betances:
0.66 ERA, 2 saves, 25 K's in 13.2 innings

Chasen Shreve:
0.00 ERA, 12 K's in 11.1 innings

Chad Green:
0.00 ERA, 11 K's in 9.1 innings

On Sunday against the Rays, Green, Clippard and Betances combined for 3.3 innings of no-hit, shutout ball to secure a Yankees 3-2 win.

But this core of relievers can only keep this kind of performance up for so long. It will be up to New York's starters to get deeper into games to ensure these suddenly stellar arms stay fresh as baseball moves closer to summer.

Knicks draft profile: Dennis Smith

With New York picking at No. 8 during the 2017 NBA draft, Metro New York will take a look at the possible prospects who might fall to them during the first round of the late-June selection process. Up first is NC State point guard Dennis Smith.

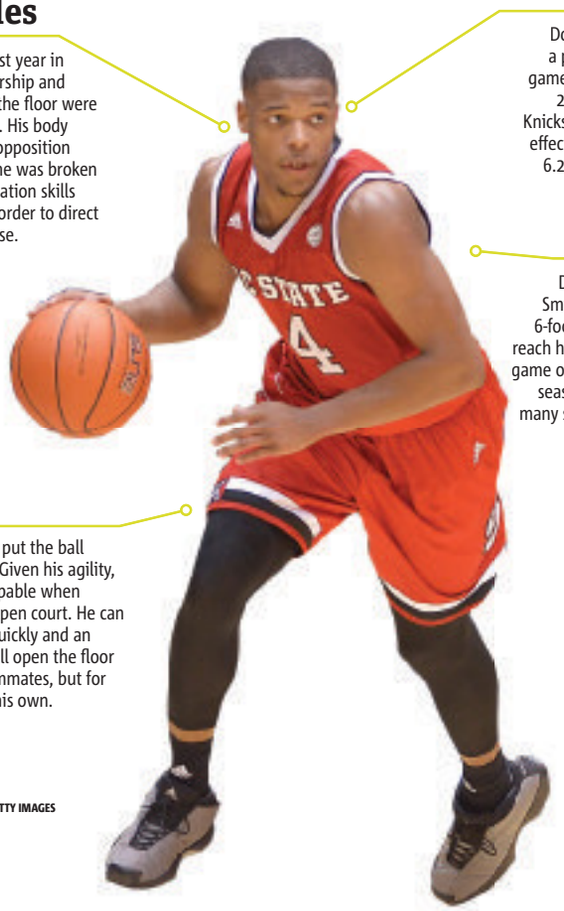
JOE PANTORNO AND ESTHER LESLIE

Intangibles

There were times last year in which Smith's leadership and mentality while on the floor were called into question. His body language gave the opposition clear signals when he was broken while his communication skills need to improve in order to direct a professional offense.

Facilitator

Do you know the last time the Knicks had a player average more than six assists per game in a season? It was Jeremy Lin in 2011-2012. That's how long it's been since the Knicks have had a point guard who can be an effective passer. Smith is just that, averaging 6.2 helpers per game last year at NC State.



Turnover Creator

Despite coming in at just under 6-foot-2, Smith makes the most of his arm length. A 6-foot-3 wing span and an 8-foot-1 standing reach helped create almost two steals (1.9) per game on the defensive end during the 2016-17 season. The last time a Knick averaged that many steals per game? Charlie Ward when he put up 2.1 during the 1998-99 season.

Slasher

Smith isn't afraid to put the ball on the floor, either. Given his agility, he is almost unstoppable when given space in the open court. He can change directions quickly and an arsenal of moves will open the floor not only for his teammates, but for scoring chances of his own.

If you've tried Imodium and are still experiencing symptoms of abdominal pain and diarrhea, learn how you could be eligible to participate in a research study of an approved drug for Irritable Bowel Syndrome with diarrhea (IBS-D).

Local doctors are conducting a research study to evaluate eluxadoline, a medication that has been approved to treat Irritable Bowel Syndrome with Diarrhea (IBS-D) in adults. The purpose of this study is to understand the safety and effectiveness of eluxadoline in people with IBS-D who report that prior use of loperamide (Imodium) did not provide adequate control of their symptoms.

To pre-qualify for this study, you must:
- Be 18 to 80 years of age
- Be diagnosed with IBS-D or have a history of abdominal pain and diarrhea consistent with a diagnosis of IBS-D
- Have used loperamide (Imodium) in the prior 12 months, and use of loperamide did not provide adequate control of your IBS-D symptoms

All study-related visits, tests and treatments will be provided at no cost. In addition, compensation for study-related time and travel may be provided.

NYSPI IRB Approved 6911 9/9/2015 -> 9/1/2016

Are you worried about your own memory or the memory of a loved one? Is there a history of Dementia or Alzheimer's Disease in your family?

This is a research study for individuals age 55-95 with memory complaints to see if one's sense of smell can predict response to memory treatment.

If eligible, participants receive:
- Medical evaluation
- 1 year of treatment for memory deficits
- Memory/cognitive performance monitoring by experts
- Sense of smell testing
- Monetary compensation

If interested, please call
(646) 774-7204 or (646) 774-7202

The study is conducted at New York State Psychiatric Institute/Columbia University Medical Center and is funded by a research grant from the National Institute of Health.

Aries Take any opportunity you get to learn something new. Enlist the help of an expert to ensure that you get things done properly. Love and romance should be priorities.

Taurus You'll come up with a great idea, but before you share it with others, get the groundwork done. You'll need help, but it'll only come if you've prepared the way.

Gemini Jump in and get things done. Your ability to adapt, take charge and make things happen will turn you into the go-to person. Your popularity is on the rise.

Cancer A partnership will suffer if you don't do your part. Consider the best way to keep each party's responsibilities equal if you want to avoid any change of plans.

Leo You'll adapt easily to whatever comes. Take action and get things done in order to avoid an emotional standoff with someone who tends to be stubborn and critical.

Virgo Share your thoughts and feelings if you want to get others to listen and contribute to what you are trying to accomplish. A business trip is encouraged.

Libra Money matters will be difficult to figure out. You'll want to be prudent, but at the same time will be tempted by an offer that appeals to your sentimental side.

Scorpio Emotions will take control and should be channeled into something that will make your life and a relationship with someone special better. Focus on love.

Sagittarius Engage in things that you can do with someone you find easy to collaborate with. Working as a team player will encourage you to promote your capabilities.

Capricorn Time spent at home working or doing things that you have left unfinished will be most satisfying. Don't engage in other people's projects. Do your own thing.

Aquarius Share your feelings with someone you can help or be helped by in order to come up with a dynamite plan. Working together, you will be quite a team.

Pisces Uncertainty will lead to mistakes. Ask questions, gather facts and make your move before time runs out and an opportunity is missed. Know your limits. EUGENIA LAST
